

Peter Pan and Wendy Audition Monologues

The Dream* by Hollis McLachlan

Last night, I had the craziest dream. I dreamt that I went to my window and saw a lime-green flying car, with little fur balls flying it. They flew over to me, and said, “What’s up?” I replied, “Not much. Sooo... where did you buy that car?” They answered, “We’ll tell you if you come inside and share some of this delicious homemade iced tea with us.” So naturally I put on some socks and flew out my window.

The inside of the car was as large as my living room, and one of the fur balls on roller skates came up to me with a lifetime supply of bubble gum and a glass of purple iced tea. Well, let me tell you this was the BEST iced tea I’ve ever had. Plus, it was glowing purple! Awesome. I didn’t want to wake up from this dream! When I opened my eyes, I was sad. It seemed so real to me...but it HAD to be a dream... talking, flying fur balls don’t exist! They can’t exist... CAN they?!
